

THE PRESIDENT ARRAIGNED

MR. BLAINE'S VIGOROUS INDICTMENT.

SOME OF THE CHIEF FEATURES OF CLEVELAND'S ADMINISTRATION DESCRIBED.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Mr. Blaine spoke before an immense audience here to-night. He criticised the National Administration in the strongest terms, and his points were received with great favor by his hearers. He said in part:

The Republicans arraign Mr. Cleveland for falling short of the promises whereby his Administration was inaugurated, and for disappointing the just expectations which his words inspired. They arraign him for his failure to improve the Civil Service. The "spoils system" instead of being rooted up, as the President promised, has been developed more intensely than ever before, and the chairman of the Democratic National Committee takes his station in the White House, and as a read from a congratulatory dispatch published in a Democratic newspaper, receives assurance of contributions from more than one hundred officeholders in a single day. It has moreover been charged in responsible newspapers, and proved before a special committee of the Senate, that Mr. Cleveland, convicted and pardoned criminals, have been placed in office under the President's administration and that the President has been subjected to open shame in a degree hitherto unknown.

Second—The Republicans arraign the President for having surrendered the rights of the country to the dictation of the North American coast in a manner derogatory to the dignity of the Nation and in utter disregard of the rights of the Federal Government. Third—The Republicans arraign Mr. Cleveland for his cruel disregard of the rights of poor and needy soldiers who incurred their distress and their poverty in the service of the Nation. The Republicans arraign the President not merely for his veto of pension bills, but for his general disregard of the rights of the poor and needy soldiers who incurred their distress and their poverty in the service of the Nation.

Fourth—The Republicans arraign the Administration for having unjustly "squeezed" and for partitioning the millions of the North American coast in the Territory of Dakota. Fifth—The Republicans arraign President Cleveland's Administration for breaking down the useful policy of paying off the National debt as rapidly as the surplus in the Treasury will allow. When Mr. Cleveland assumed the office of President, the National debt stood at $1,200,000,000. He has left it at $1,200,000,000. He has left it at $1,200,000,000. He has left it at $1,200,000,000.

Sixth—Lastly, the Republicans arraign the President for a deliberate attempt to destroy the protective tariff by using against it as an argument its tendency to produce a surplus in the Treasury. When not one dollar of surplus was in the Treasury, Mr. Cleveland used the surplus in the Treasury to pay off the National debt. He has left it at $1,200,000,000. He has left it at $1,200,000,000. He has left it at $1,200,000,000.

"THE WORLD'S" SPY FORESTALLED.

EMPLOYEES OF THE AMERICAN PROTECTIVE TARIFF LEAGUE SATISFIED WITH THEIR PAY.

"The World" has announced an article to appear in its columns this morning, in which it claims that it will expose the manner in which the work of the American Protective Tariff League is done, and will attempt to convince its readers that the wages paid there are wholly inadequate, and that the people are being deceived. The article is signed "Edward J. McLaughlin," and is a direct attack on the work of the American Protective Tariff League. The article is signed "Edward J. McLaughlin," and is a direct attack on the work of the American Protective Tariff League.

This scheme for getting information by the employment of spies is characteristic of free-trade Democracy, which is nothing if not mean and dishonest. Decent people appreciate such methods at their value and view them with contempt. The article is signed "Edward J. McLaughlin," and is a direct attack on the work of the American Protective Tariff League.

The employees of the League have written and signed a statement to Mr. McLaughlin, in which they say that they find their wages ample, their employment agreeable and their treatment satisfactory in every way, adding:

Although we felt satisfied that Miss Nelson ("The World's" representative) was a free-trade, we did not hesitate to answer the inquisitive questions as freely as though she were not an impostor obtaining employment through misrepresentation and on the plea of being a stranger and a subject for charity. We shall be glad to lend our aid at any time to disabuse the public's mind of such false and unjust accusations.

PHILADELPHIA REPUBLICANS WORKING. Philadelphia, Oct. 20 (Special).—A close estimate by the Republican City Committee places the vote that will be cast in this city on November 6 at 204,000; that cast at the Presidential election four years ago was 109,328.

Editor William M. Slingerly has been made stakeholder of a large bet made by David Martin, who places the wager on Harrison, and James Doyle, who supports Cleveland. On accepting the stake, Mr. Slingerly bet a $500 majority with Martin that Harrison would not have 200,000 majority in the city.

Every ward in the city held one or more Republican mass-meetings to-night, and the uniformed clubs were out in great force. The Young Republican Club, 2,500 strong, visited Mount Holy to-night, and took part in the Republican demonstration at that place.

At both the city and State committee rooms the most active work is going on, and it is predicted that Harrison's majority in the State will equal that given to Blaine in 1884.

NEW-JERSEY ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES. Morrisstown, N. J., Oct. 20 (Special).—The 1st Assembly District Republican Convention was held here to-day, and Lieutenant Colonel B. Meeker, of Afton, was renominated by acclamation.

John Norris, of Rockaway, has the Republican nomination from the 1st District, and it is expected that the Democrats will file a candidate in opposition to either of the above named.

Impure Blood

Is the cause of Boils, Carbuncles, Pimples, Eczema, and cutaneous eruptions of all kinds. There can be no permanent cure for these complaints until the poison is eliminated from the system. To do this thoroughly, is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Give it a trial.

"For the past twenty-five years I have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In my opinion, the best remedial agent for the cure of all the blood is contained in this medicine."—G. C. Brock, Druggist, Lowell, Mass.

"My wife was for a long time a sufferer from tumors on the neck. She tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which made a complete cure."—W. S. Martin, Druggist, Lowell, Mass.

"We have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla here for over thirty years and always recommend it when asked to name the best blood-purifier."—W. T. McLean, Druggist, Augusta, Ohio.

PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Price 50¢; six bottles, $4. Worth 50¢ a bottle.

IRISH-AMERICANS SPEAK.

A BIG AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN COOPER UNION.

COLONEL CRUGER HEARTILY WELCOMED—NO FREE-TRADE WITH ENGLAND FOR THE SONS OF ERIN.

Any one who went to Cooper Union last evening and came away saying that the revolt of Irishmen from the Democratic party was only on paper would be telling the biggest kind of a lie. A mass meeting under the auspices of the Irish-American Anti-Free Trade League. The large hall was crowded to the doors. Those who could not get in went to the headquarters of the organization, No. 141 Eighth-st., where an overflow-meeting was held. The enthusiasm was tremendous. Cheer after cheer rang through the building, not alone for the Presidential candidate, but for the heads of the State and local tickets.

Among those present were: Colonel S. V. R. Cruger, John W. Jacobus, General O'Leary, James P. Foster, Dennis Shea, James S. Leachman, Patrick Ford, Augustine Ford, Austin E. Ford, Edward FitzGibbon, John P. Lynch, Michael Chilton, Isaac N. Forbes, John F. Baker, Colonel Almon, Thomas Martin, Henry Gleason, David J. Neughton, J. P. Farrell, John C. Graham, P. H. Spellman, J. C. Lyons, Daniel J. Ryan, of Ohio; T. J. Breslin, Patrick F. Wall, M. F. Farley, H. A. Tenney and Peter V. Husted. J. F. McCarthy called the meeting to order and nominated Captain P. H. McNamee as chairman. Captain McNamee's speech was eloquent and telling and called forth loud cheers. He said in part:

I am a Republican from conviction and a Protectionist from principle. (Applause.) I am in favor of a Simon-pure American policy of equal rights and protection for all under the Constitution. I am for America against the world. (Loud applause.) We want free trade. We want no competition with the foreign labor of Europe. We want no foreign Power to enjoy privileges under our Government that are withheld from American citizens. (Continued applause.) We want no extradition of other treaties that are not founded on the principles of eternal justice. (Renewed applause.) We want no British flag floating in our harbors, that cursed emblem that has brought poverty and destitution to every land where its crimson folds have been unfurled. We want no more rebel flag orders—no more South Sea. No more political murders, no more election frauds, no more inviting pension votes, no more treason. (Loud cheers.)

You all know what poverty and destitution England brought to Ireland. You all know what she is striving to do for this country, and I know that you will not permit her to do it.

No better opportunity ever has presented itself to pay off old scores. No more cruel blow can the receive from you than the defeat of Grever Cleveland. (Enthusiastic cheering.)

Ex-Judge A. L. Morrison was the next speaker. He said in part:

England is the only country in the world that is not satisfied with minding her own business. She persists in meddling in the affairs of this country, and always has persisted against her acquiescence. She has drawn from the soil of this republic. (Applause.) We belong here and England belongs to the other side of the ocean, and when November 6 comes around that fact will be so apparent by the triumphant election of Benjamin Harrison. (Loud applause.) The fact that England to-day wants Free Trade would be sufficient for me as an Irishman—if no other reasons existed to vote against Free Trade, which I will and which you all will on election day. (Great cheering.)

J. M. Wall was the next speaker. This is part of what he said:

The English newspapers are in the habit of publishing elaborate accounts of the most trifling movements of the Queen or the members of the Royal family. This is carried so far that it occasionally takes the form of slavish adulation. I have read frequently in the London papers that the Queen walked out this morning. (Derisive laughter.) I am no Napoleon and have no sympathy with Napoleonism, yet there is one point upon which I stand ready to praise the editors of American newspapers for copying, as they surely will copy, the Murgum style of imitating English customs, and that is when they publish in their editions of November 7 the welcome announcement: "Grever Cleveland walked out yesterday morning." (Great laughter and applause.) We are all of us Irishmen or the sons of Irishmen, and we make no apology for being Republicans. (Continued applause.) It is a matter of conviction with us. I say nothing to those fellow-countrymen of the Democratic party, and I don't at the same time their right to assist us for casting our lot with that great party of which Abraham Lincoln was once the head. (Applause.) In these days the Republican party represented liberty and the Democratic party represented slavery. The two see any difference between now and then? I do not. The slave driver of yesterday; the human fiend who lashed his human victim until the blood flowed is today the typical Democratic leader, and tells you that he has become a changed man. He has. (Loud cheers.) He was once a reasonable and dispassionate man, but he has become a slave driver. He has always stood, for liberty and progress, for America against Europe, for protection against free-trade, for the Stars and Stripes against the Union Jack of England first and forever. (Prolonged applause.) And we are going to vote for that distinguished son of Indiana. And we are going to elect him. (Loud cheering.)

At this point Colonel Cruger came upon the platform and received a warm welcome. The audience insisted upon hearing him, and he made a brief and telling speech, which was received with round after round of cheers. He said:

If the election were to be decided by this audience there would be no question as to the result. In 1890 the American people were called upon to decide a great issue, to meet and defeat treason and secession. The Republican party was led by the immortal Lincoln (great cheering) and no class of our fellow-countrymen responded with more alacrity to the call for soldiers to defend the Union than did the Irish-Americans. (Renewed cheering.) We are now called upon to decide another great issue. This time the battle is to be fought with the ballot and not with the bullet. The main issue is whether the people of this country will continue the policy of protection or will adopt free trade. (Cries of "Never.") I am sure you will sustain at the polls the party that is in favor of protecting home industries. (Loud applause.) Even if the present complexion of the Federal Senate should remain unchanged, there would still be almost a tie, so I believe you to see that the man who fills the Presidential chair after the next election will be a Republican.

THE INSURANCE MEN'S CLUB OPENING.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM, GOOD SPECIES AND ASSURANCE OF VICTORY.

The Insurance Men's Harrison and Morton Club opened their new club-room, at No. 26 Liberty-st., yesterday afternoon. Previous to the indoor meeting a large United States flag with the names of the candidates upon it was strung across the street and great cheering and enthusiasm. A few hoodlums on the outskirts of the immense crowd attempted at first to interfere with the exercise, but their unseemly antics were quickly drowned by the singing of "Cleveland's Lullaby," and by the cheering and shouting of the "Lullaby." A perfect hurricane of enthusiasm swept over the audience as he made point after point with telling effect against free trade, Cleveland and the pro-irish policy of the Democratic party.

Ex-Assemblyman David H. Heston, the well-known labor leader, and one of the most eloquent young Irish-American orators in this city, captivated the meeting in a brilliant speech, which was loudly applauded, after which three hearty cheers were given for Harrison and Morton.

Professor Adams and a delegation from the Wholesale Dry Goods Harrison and Morton Club led the singing of patriotic songs. Those who were able to get inside the hall had the pleasure of hearing some fine music and pointed remarks by ex-Congressman Franklin, of Pennsylvania, Colonel Lawson Mayer, of the Wholesale Dry Goods Club, also spoke a few words to the young men, and advised them to be present at the polls and see that an honest vote was cast.

This was greeted with cries of "We will." This club has already 1,000 names on its roll and additions are being made every day. Tomorrow's meeting, in which singing will be a prominent feature, will be held daily until the election. After yesterday's meeting the club marched up Nassau-st. and halted in front of the Tribune Building, where cheer after cheer was given for Harrison and Morton. The Tribune, Whitehall and the evening victory on November 6.

A GREAT MASS-MEETING IN PHILADELPHIA. Philadelphia, Oct. 20 (Special).—The Republicans held a monster mass-meeting at Industrial Art Hall to-night. Thousands were unable to enter the hall, and outside meetings also were held. Governor Beaver presided. Addresses were delivered by Congressman Kelley, Birmingham, O'Neill, Harmon, and Henry K. Geyer, of Pennsylvania, William B. Smith, North Carolina, Thomas Fitzgerald, William M. Smith, Tudolph Hanchant, Alexander P. Colebrey, Charles F. Warwick, A. A. Cadden, Augustus H. Ashbridge, M. J. O'Sullivan, John Barclay, and Alfred Grant.
